

What we do

Contributed by

Web site development & design We provide a comprehensive custom website development services for businesses. Our team of programmers and designers are experienced in a multitude of skill sets including HTML, PHP, Database development, Graphic Design, Animation and more. We make project planning and consultation a top priority. More . . .

Content Management Systems We build websites using an awarding winning content management system called Joomla CMS. Adding or amending content is carried out using a web browser and is as simple to use as MS Word.

Faxing changes to your web designer just isn't practical anymore!!!

Because the Joomla Content Management System is opensource, we are able to employ it behind even the smallest website and still remain within our clients budget level. More . . . Web site hosting Whether you are looking purely for web hosting services, or to host one or a number of sites as part of a total web solution, we provide a range of professional managed & reliable hosting services. As a business partner of the PIPEX Group, and a UKWDA Member specialising in web development and web hosting, we provide high bandwidth, secure, 24 hour managed hosting. Our competitive, high quality hosting packages range from shared space to dedicated and co-located servers. More . . .

Search Engine Optimisation Most people find what they're looking for on the Internet through major search engines like Google. If they don't find your website within the first few pages, you've probably missed them. According to Forrester Research 'over 80% of internet users rely on search engines to find what they are looking for. More . . . Bulk SMS txt Lets you send a single message to a group of friends / colleagues / customers easily, from either your mobile phone or a PC on the Internet. If you ever send the same message to more than 2 people, then you can save money and time by using txtIT. The new txtIT Shortcode feature let's you reserve your own KEYWORD or ID tag on the mobile networks..... so that you can automatically capture the contact details of your customers or friends. More . . . Corporate ID We understand that Corporate ID (or Branding) is much more than just a logo, visual corporate identity or trademark - it reflects the total personality of a product and organisation. More . . .

Design for print With the recent influx of electronic media and communication the importance of high quality print design is often overlooked. Knowing what you want to say is only half way towards effectively communicating your message: your literature also needs to be presented in a manner that makes your customers want to keep it. More . . .

Multimedia A message put in motion is a powerful tool to better serve your visitors experience when viewing your Company on or offline. Presentations for a potential client, CD-ROMs, Virtual Tours, Email Virals, Streaming Audio and Video Media and Flash Introduction Pages to name just a few. More . . .
